OUR COMMITMENT TO YOU

Your personal privacy is a ProSocial top priority. We value that you put your trust in us when you provide us with your information, and we do not take this lightly.

PROSOCIAL PRIVACY POLICY

1. WHEN POLICY APPLIES

This Privacy Policy applies to websites, apps, events and other services we operate under the brand ProSocial. For simplicity, we refer to all of these as our “services” in this Privacy Policy.

2. INFORMATION WE COLLECT

It goes without saying, we can’t help you socially develop personally and through meaningful connections without some information about you, such as basic background information and the types of people you’d like to meet. We also collect information about your use of our services such as access logs, as well as information from third parties, like when you access our services through your social media account or when you upload information from your social media account to complete your profile. If you want additional info, we go into more detail below.

Information you give us

You choose to give us certain information when using our services. This includes:

- When you create an account, you provide us with at least your login credentials and/or phone number and email address, as well as some basic details necessary for the service to work, such as your gender, date of birth, and responses to our questionnaires regarding your personality and what you are seeking.
- When you complete your profile, you will receive a questionnaire regarding you, your background, including but not limited to your religion, ethnicity and political views with us. Where you provide such elements to us, you consent to us using it for the purposes identified and as laid out in this Privacy Policy. You can also share with us additional information, such as details on your personality, lifestyle, interests and other details about you.
- When you subscribe to a paid service or make a purchase directly from us (rather than through a platform such as iOS or Android), you provide us with information related to the purchases you make and our payment processor with information, such as your debit or credit card number or other financial information.
- When you participate in our personal development tools, responses to our questions and surveys, we analyze that information.
- When you choose to participate in our promotions, events or contests, we collect the information that you use to register or enter.
- If you contact our customer care team, we collect the information you give us during the interaction.
- If you share with us information about other people (for example, if you connected well with a particular person during an outing), we process this information on your behalf in order to complete your request.

Information we receive from others

In addition to the information you may provide us directly, we receive information about you from others, including:

- ## Users

  Users may provide information about you as they use our services, for instance as they interact with you or if they submit a report involving you.

- ## Social Media

  You may decide to share information with us through your social media account, for instance if you decide to create or log into your account via your social media or other account (e.g., Facebook, Google or Apple) or to upload onto our services information such as photos from one of your social media accounts (e.g., Facebook or Instagram).

- ## Other Partners

  We may receive information about you from our partners, including when accounts can be created through a partner's service (in which case they pass along registration information to us) or where our ads are published on a partner's service (in which case they may pass along details on a campaign's success). Where legally allowed, we can also receive information about suspected or convicted bad actors from third parties as part of our efforts to ensure our users' safety and security.

Information generated or automatically collected when you use our services

When you use our services, this generates technical data about which features you've used, how you've used them and the devices you use to access our services. See below for more details:

- ## Usage Information

  Using the services generates data about your activity on our services, for instance how you use them (e.g., when you logged in, features you've been using, actions taken, information shown to you, referring webpages address and ads that you interacted with) and your interactions with other users (e.g., users you connect and interact with).

- ## Device Information

  We collect information from and about the device(s) you use to access our services, including hardware and software information such as IP address, device ID and type, apps settings and characteristics, app crashes, advertising IDs (which are randomly generated numbers that you can reset by going into your device's settings), and identifiers associated with cookies or other technologies that may uniquely identify a device or browser.

- ## Information collected by cookies and similar technologies

We use and may allow others to use cookies and similar technologies (e.g., web beacons, pixels, SDKs) to recognize you and/or your device(s). You may read our Cookie Policy for more information on why we use them and how you can better control their use.

Some web browsers (including Safari, Internet Explorer, Firefox and Chrome) have a “Do Not Track” (“DNT”) feature that tells a website that a user does not want to have his or her online activity tracked. If a website that responds to a DNT signal receives a DNT signal, the browser can block that website from collecting certain information about the browser’s user. Not all browsers offer a DNT option and DNT signals are not yet uniform. For this reason, many businesses, including ours, do not currently respond to DNT signals.

- ### Other information with your consent

Precise geolocation data: If you give us your consent, we can collect your precise geolocation (latitude and longitude) from your device. The collection of your geolocation may occur in the background even when you aren’t using the services if the permission you gave us expressly permits such collection. If you decline permission for us to collect your precise geolocation, we will not collect it, and our services that rely on precise geolocation may not be available to you.
Other information: We may collect other information with your permission such as photos and videos (for instance, if you want to publish a photo or video or participate in streaming features on our services).

4. HOW WE USE INFORMATION

The main reason we use your information is to deliver and improve our services. Additionally, we use your information to help keep you safe, and to provide you with advertising that may be of interest to you. Read on for a more detailed explanation of the various reasons for which we use your information, together with practical examples.

A. To administer your account and provide our services to you

- Create and manage your account
- Provide you with customer support and respond to your requests
- Personalize pricing, offer discounts and other promotions, and complete your transactions
- Communicate with you about our services
- Administer sweepstakes and contests

B. To help you connect with other users

- Enable positive and meaningful connections with other ProSocial users

C. To provide offers and operate advertising and marketing campaigns

- Perform and measure the effectiveness of advertising campaigns on our services and marketing our services off our platform
- Communicate with you about products or services that we believe may interest you

D. To improve our services and develop new ones

- Administer focus groups, market studies and surveys
- Review interactions with customer care teams to improve our quality of service
- Understand how users typically use the services to improve them (for instance, we may decide to change the look and feel or even substantially modify a given feature based on how users react to it)
- Develop new features and services (for example, we may decide to build a new interests-based feature further to requests received from users).

E. To prevent, detect and fight fraud and other illegal or unauthorized activities

- Find and address ongoing, suspected or alleged violations of our Terms of Use or Community Rules, notably through the review of reports and interactions between users.
- Better understand and design countermeasures against violations of our Terms of Use or Community Rules
- Retain data related to violations of our Terms of Use or Community Rules to prevent against recurrences
- Enforce or exercise our rights, for example our Terms of Use or Community Rules
- Communicate to users who submit a report, including what we've done as a result of their submission.

F. To ensure legal compliance

- Comply with legal requirements
- Assist law enforcement

5. HOW WE SHARE INFORMATION

Since our goal is to help you personally develop and to make meaningful connections, the main sharing of users' information is, of course, to connect you with other users. We also share some users' information with service providers and partners who assist us in operating the services, with other ProSocial Group companies for specified reasons as laid out below and, in some cases, legal authorities. Read on for more details about how your information is shared with others.

- ### With other users

  You share information with other users when you voluntarily disclose information on the service (including your public profile). Please be careful with your information and make sure that the content you share is stuff that you're comfortable being visible.

  If someone submits a report involving you (such as a claim that you violated our Terms of Use), we may communicate to the reporter actions, if any, we took as a result of their report.

- With our service providers and partners

  We use vendors to help us operate, distribute, market and improve our services, such as data hosting and maintenance, analytics, customer care, marketing, advertising, payment processing and security operations. We also share information with vendors who distribute and assist us in advertising or hosting a meet up for our services. For instance, we may share limited information on you in hashed, non-human readable form to advertising partners.

We follow a strict vetting process prior to engaging any vendor or working with any partner. Our vendors and partners must agree to strict confidentiality obligations.

- For corporate transactions

  We may transfer your information if we are involved, whether in whole or in part, in a merger, sale, acquisition, divestiture, restructuring, reorganization, dissolution, bankruptcy or other change of ownership or control.

- With law enforcement / when required by law

  We may disclose your information if reasonably necessary: (i) to comply with a legal process, such as a court order, subpoena or search warrant, government / law enforcement investigation or other legal requirements; (ii) to assist in the prevention or detection of crime (subject in each case to applicable law); or (iii) to protect the safety of any person.

- To enforce legal rights

  We may also share information: (i) if disclosure would mitigate our liability in an actual or threatened lawsuit; (ii) as necessary to protect our legal rights and legal rights of our users, business partners or other interested parties; (iii) to enforce our agreements with you; and (iv) to investigate, prevent, or take other action regarding illegal activity, suspected fraud or other wrongdoing.

- With your consent or at your request

  We may ask for your consent to share your information with third parties. In any such case, we will make it clear why we want to share the information.

We may use and share non-personal information (meaning information that, by itself, does not identify who you are such as device information, general demographics, general behavioral data, geolocation in de-identified form), as well as personal information in hashed, non-human readable form, under any of the above circumstances. We may also share this information with other third parties (notably advertisers) to develop and deliver targeted advertising on our services and on websites or applications of third parties, and to analyze and report on advertising you see. We may combine this information with additional non-personal information or personal information in hashed, non-human readable form collected from other sources. More information on our use of cookies and similar technologies can be found in our Cookie Policy.

6. YOUR RIGHTS

We want you to be in control of your information, so we want to remind you of the following options and tools available to you:

- Access / Update tools in the service. Tools and account settings can help you access, rectify or remove information that you provided to us and that's associated with your account directly within the service. If you have any questions on those tools and settings, please contact our customer care team for help by emailing prosocialapplication@gmail.com.
- Device permissions. Mobile platforms can have permission systems for specific types of device data and notifications, such as phone contacts, pictures, location services, push notifications and advertising identifiers. You can change your settings on your device to either consent or oppose the collection or processing of the corresponding information or the display of the corresponding notifications. Of course, if you do that, certain services may lose functionality.
- Uninstall. You can stop all information collection by an app by uninstalling it using the standard uninstall process for your device. Remember that uninstalling an app does NOT close your account. To close your account, please use the corresponding functionality on the service
- Account closure. You can close your account by using the corresponding functionality directly on the service.

We also want you to be aware of your privacy rights. Here are a few key points to remember:

- Access/know. You may have the right to request a copy of the information we keep about you, and in certain circumstances to receive this in a portable format. To do so, please contact us by emailing prosocialapplication@gmail.com.
- Delete/erase. You may request that we delete the personal information we keep about you. You can exercise your right to delete by submitting a request by emailing prosocialapplication@gmail.com.
- Correct/rectify/update. You can correct most information you provided to us by editing your profile directly in the service. If you believe the information we hold about you is inaccurate, you may contact us by emailing prosocialapplication@gmail.com to rectify it.
- Object/restrict You may also have the right to object to or request that we restrict certain processing. To do so, please contact us by emailing prosocialapplication@gmail.com. For your protection and the protection of all of our users, we may ask you to provide proof of identity before we can answer the above requests.

Keep in mind, we may reject requests, including if we are unable to authenticate you, if the request is unlawful or invalid, or if it may infringe on trade secrets or intellectual property or the privacy or other rights of s7omeone else. If you wish to receive information relating to another user, such as a copy of any messages you received from them through our service, the other user will have to contact us to submit a separate request for their information. We may also ask them to provide proof of identity before we can answer the request.

Also, we may not be able to accommodate certain requests to object to or restrict the processing of personal information, notably where such requests would not allow us to provide our service to you anymore. For instance, we cannot provide our service if we do not have your date of birth and thus cannot ensure that you are 18 years of age or older.

In certain jurisdictions, you have a right to lodge a complaint with the appropriate data protection authority if you have concerns about how we process your personal information.

8. HOW LONG WE RETAIN YOUR INFORMATION

We keep your personal information only as long as we need it for legitimate business purposes and as permitted by applicable law. Note that we will close your account automatically if you are inactive for a prolonged period of time (e.g. more than one year). After your account is closed, we will delete your personal information, as laid out below:

1. To protect the safety and security of our users, we implement a safety retention window of three months following account closure. During this period, we keep your information in the event that it might be necessary to investigate unlawful or harmful conducts. The retention of information during this safety retention window is based on our legitimate interest as well as that of potential third-party victims.

2. Once the safety retention window elapses, we delete your data and only keep limited information for specified purposes, as laid out below:

    a. We maintain limited data to comply with legal data retention obligations: in particular, we keep transaction data to comply with tax and accounting legal requirements, credit card information, if any, for the duration the user may challenge the transaction and “traffic data” / logs for one year to comply with legal data retention obligations. We also keep records of consents users give us for five years to evidence our compliance with applicable law.

    b. We maintain limited information on the basis of our legitimate interest: we keep customer care records and supporting data as well as imprecise location of download/purchase for five years to support our customer care decisions, enforce our rights and enable us to defend ourselves in the event of a claim, profile data for one year in anticipation of potential litigation, for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims, and data necessary to prevent users who were banned or people who were found to be under the age of 18 from opening a new account, to ensure the safety and vital interests of our users.

    c. Finally, we maintain information on the basis of our legitimate interest where there is an outstanding or potential issue, claim or dispute requiring us to keep information (in particular if we receive a valid legal subpoena or request asking us to preserve data (in which case we would need to keep the data to comply with our legal obligations) or if data would otherwise be necessary as part of legal proceedings).

8. CHILDREN'S PRIVACY

Our services are restricted to individuals who are 18 years of age or older. We do not permit individuals under the age of 18 on our platform. If you suspect that a user is under the age of 18, please use the reporting mechanism available on the service.

9. PRIVACY POLICY CHANGES

Because we’re always looking for new and innovative ways to help you build meaningful connections and strive to make sure explanations about our data practices remain up-to-date, this policy may change over time. We will notify you before any material changes take effect so that you have time to review the changes.

10. HOW TO CONTACT US

If you have questions about this Privacy Policy, contact us by emailing prosocialapplication@gmail.com..
